

Dr. Katy Lanz

Dr. Katy Lanz is a healthcare executive with over two decades of success building community programs for the seriously ill. Katy uses her clin-ops experience along with her national network of systems, health plans and funders/investors to custom design and strategize for clinical programs. She most recently served PCMA, a growing geriatric and palliative medical practice, as Chief Strategy Officer and Aspire Health, as Chief Clinical Officer from start-up through Anthem acquisition. Her firm, TopSight Partners, is a boutique clinical design advisory partner that supports multi-stage organizations hoping to create, evolve and scale clinical services.

The first decade of Katy's career were at the bedside of the seriously ill. She is a nationally awarded clinical expert, mentor, fellow in palliative care, triple board certified, and leadership/business trained through Vanderbilt's Inaugural DNP program and Duke's Leadership Fellowship. Katy has led two demonstrations and contracts with the Center for Medicare and Medicaid Innovation and presently serves on the board of the National Hospice and Palliative Care Organization, and is a Senior Advisor to Dollar General and other growing companies.
