

Meg Pekarske

Meg offers counsel and innovative strategy on hospice compliance, audits, litigation and growth. Having practiced hospice law across the country for over 20 years, Meg knows the healthcare space and has evolved with it. She anticipates industry trends and efficiently clears pathways for clients large and small.

Meg strategizes solutions for clients on a variety of hospice legal issues and collaborates with leading groups such as the National Hospice and Palliative Care Organization (NHPCO). She enjoys facilitating client growth and innovative partnerships with health systems and other providers as well as guiding hospices through mergers and acquisitions. Meg also shares insights and speaks to industry innovators as host of the podcast “Hospice Insights: The Law and Beyond.”

The most rewarding aspect of Meg’s practice is knowing that each person she encounters is working toward the same goal: providing compassionate, quality end-of-life care to patients.
