Teleios Announces Inaugural Care As It Should Be Award Winners

Hendersonville, NC August 8, 2022: Teleios Collaborative Network (TCN) announced the inaugural recipients of the Care As It Should Be Award during the August Visioneering Council Meeting.

The purpose of the Care As It Should Be Awards is to recognize those individuals who make an extraordinary impact on the patients and families who they serve daily. “We know that each of our staff members who take care of patients or provide access to care for patients provide excellence. These awards are to recognize those who take it to the next level – those who make personal sacrifices and who go above and beyond to make a patient’s experience at their most vulnerable time the best that it can be,” said Chris Comeaux, President and CEO of TCN.

Each TCN Member Organization was encouraged to nominate staff members who they felt elevated patient care. The nominees for the 2022 awards were: Elisabeth Capron, RN, Hospice of Eastern Idaho; Dr. Glenn Golaszewski, MD, Mountain Valley Hospice & Palliative Care; Tammy Jordan, CNA, AMOREM; Christine Norman, Patient Access Liaison, Mountain Valley Hospice & Palliative Care; Beth Solesbee, RN, Four Seasons, The Care You Trust; and Dana Walker, RN, Carolina Caring.

The award recipients are Dr. Glenn Golaszewski, MD, Mountain Valley Hospice & Palliative Care; Tammy Jordan, CNA, AMOREM (awarded posthumously); and Dana Walker, RN, Carolina Caring.
